GREECE APPARENTLY ON VERGE OF ENTERING THE EUROPEAN CONFLOT

MAN WHO COUNTRY OWES REVEALS POLICY OF NEUTRALITY OF GOVERNMENT

Nation Almost at Parting of Ways, With King Constantine Exerting Every Influence to Avoid Arms and Former Premier Venizelos Taking Issue on Subjects of Peace and War.

GRAND COUNCIL OF MINISTERS IN SESSION

Retiring Official, Popular Because of Manner in Which Balkan Campaign Was Handled, Recipient of Cheers as He Leaves Chamber at Athens—Promises Support of New Ministry, but Doubt Exists.

London, March 7.—Greece is apparently at the parting of the ways, with her king exerting his influence to maintain the neutrality of his country in opposition to Eleutherios Venizelos, the retiring premier and the man to whom Greece owes her revival.

M. Venizelos yesterday announced the resignation of himself and his cabinet, as King Constantine did not approve the policy of the government. To-day in the chamber of deputies, M. Venizelos clearly indicated that the difference between him and the monarch was over the question of peace and war. He said he had advised the king to select as a new premier M. Zaimis, a neutral figure who would not endanger the newly acquired territory.

A grand council of ministers was held at Athens today under the presidency of King Constantine, and as Venizelos was leaving the palace at its conclusion he was acclaimed by the populace.

King Constantine won great popularity by the successful manner in which he led the last two Balkan wars. The popularity, however, he shared with M. Venizelos, to whose diplomacy in the conferences of the war Greece is said to owe her success and whose organization largely was responsible for her ability to fight as she did. The retiring premier also was the moving spirit in the Balkan alliance which united the Balkan states against Turkey.

In his speech today, M. Venizelos promised his support to any government selected by the king. There seems to be some doubt, however, whether Venizelos will follow any other leader than M. Zaimis, who has been requested by the king to form a new ministry, requested twenty-four hours in which to consider the matter.

While this political dispute is going on in the Greek capital, the allied fleet continues the bombardment of the forts of the Dardanelles, the forcing of which would make such great changes in the near east—changes which it is considered none of the Balkan states and least of all Greece can afford to treat lightly.

Having damaged two of the forts on the European side of the Narrows previously, the British battleship Queen Elizabeth and others of the allied warships Saturday started a bombardment by indirect fire on the forts on the Asiatic side of the Narrows. As had been expected, the forts are proving hard nuts to crack.

In addition the Turkish army with modern German guns is concentrating on the Gallipoli peninsula to oppose any landing and until it is disposed of, naval experts declare, the ships will not be able to pass. Bulgaria is said to have been aroused by this attack on the Dardanelles and is looking to the future. It is stated that King Ferdinand is considering the formation of a coalition government to direct the affairs of the country through the crisis, which is expected.

The only other events in the near east to be reported are a couple of skirmishes between British forces, advancing from the head of the Persian gulf, had with Turks and tribesmen who had concentrated to oppose them. In these engagements both sides suffered rather heavy casualties.

Russia has still another battle on her hands. While she is declared to be pressing her offensive in North Poland and Eastern Galicia, and holding up the Austrians in the Carpathians, the Germans have launched an attack in the region of the Pilica river, to the south of Warsaw where a big battle is developing.

So far as the most important news is that the French have returned to the attack in the Vosges and, according to Paris, succeeded in obtaining a footing on

SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS.

Whether Greece is to throw in her lot with the allies of the triple entente or remain neutral is the absorbing question of the war. The Hellenic kingdom is in the throes of a mighty crisis, with King Constantine said to be in favor of neutrality and the retiring premier, Eleutherios Venizelos, one of the strongest men in Greece, said to be uncompromisingly opposed to such a course.

The resignation of the premier and his cabinet Saturday is reported to have been due to the unyielding attitude of the monarch. The belief prevailed that with the appointment of a new ministry the storm clouds would dissipate. This feeling was heightened by reports from Athens that Venizelos had stated in a speech in the chamber of deputies that he and his followers would support any government the king might appoint.

Later information, however, brought the true utterance of Venizelos to the world. "Our party," he said, "will refuse to support any government which may be formed." Added significance was attached by some of his hearers to his further statement—"besides M. Zaimis, if he forms a cabinet, will not come before the chamber."

M. Zaimis, who has been tendered the portfolio of premier, has not yet accepted the task of forming a ministry. Instead, he has requested time to consult his followers. Meanwhile, the situation is tense.

Continued gains of ground north of Arras in the Champagne district and in the Vosges, with heavy losses in the latter region for the Germans, is claimed by Paris, while Berlin asserts that the Germans have taken trenches near Le-Mesnil and Radonville.

In the east in North Poland the Russians declare that they are still forcing back the Germans, but Berlin asserts that the operations there are proceeding "according to our plans."

In the Rawa region, Berlin says that 5,000 prisoners and sixteen machine guns were taken from the Russians.

Rather south in Poland, in the region of the Pilica river, Petrograd reports that a great battle is taking shape in the Carpathian region, with fighting continuing, with victories chronicled by both the Russian and Austrian war offices.

The Dardanelles forts continue to feel the shells of the allied warships, but Turkey asserts that they have as yet suffered no great damage.

British troops have had a clash with Turkish forces, reinforced by tribesmen at the head of the Persian gulf. London reports that heavy casualties were inflicted on the Ottomans, but admits that the British also suffered considerably.

According to a newspaper dispatch, the Roumanian parliament has empowered the government to declare a state of siege until the end of the war, if necessary.

The American steamer Pacific, which sailed from Falmouth Friday for Rotterdam, has not since been reported.

Fifteen small submarines for use in reconnoitering the home coasts are said to be building at Kiel.

Mrs. Helen Angle, on Trial for Her Admirer's Death

MRS. HELEN M. ANGLE

Apparently quite unmoved, Mrs. Helen M. Angle, singer and church worker of Bridgeport, Conn., faced the twelve men who will decide whether, on the night of June 23, last, she caused the death of Waldo R. Ballou, a well known politician, who was her admirer. It is the contention of the state that the woman pushed Waldo downstairs as he was leaving her apartment in Stamford and that in the fall he received injuries which caused his death. His body was found in the street nearby, and bloodstains on the sidewalk and up the stairs linked Mrs. Angle with his death. Mrs. Angle showed the strain she had been under, for she appeared only the shadow of her former self. Her hair was streaked with gray and her face was wrinkled. She has aged twenty years in the last eight months.

FILIBUSTER AGAINST THE EDUCATION BILL

FIGHT ON COMPULSORY MEASURES WILL BE RESUMED IN SENATE.

Austin, March 7.—The prolonged filibuster against the passage of the compulsory education bill in the senate will be resumed tomorrow when that body convenes, having recessed Saturday night and still operating under the legislative day of Wednesday last.

A vote on the bill may be reached by moving the previous question and call of the senate at the same time, thus preventing the opponents of the bill from breaking a quorum by absenting themselves.

As the senate is going to Dallas Monday night, this action seems the most probable course for the friends of the bill to take. The bill is the majority to prevent adjournment and thus having the bill lose its place on the calendar which means its certain death for this session.

Threats of breaking a quorum almost every parliamentary move possible will be resorted to defeat such an outcome after the fight of almost a week on the bill.

The Texas company bill approved by Governor Ferguson will go to the secretary of state Monday.

The bill will become effective in 90 days, failing to receive the necessary two-thirds vote to give immediate effect.

Congressman Buchanan was here this morning meeting friends. Congressman Garner passed through San Antonio where he will attend the cattlemen's convention. Both were en route from Washington.

An effort to have the house resume consideration of the text book printing bill will be made Monday. The bill is suspended day in the house that is suspension day in the house and the calendar that may be pushed for attention, among them the optometry bill, which has a number of friends in the senate.

Another important bill is the Parks bill, which seeks to permit moving picture shows and theatres to open Sundays.

Members of the house are becoming worried over the senate's failure to act on the Griggs-Haney peace bill, which has been in the senate committee on congressional districts some time. The bill now is in the hands of a sub-committee composed of Hudds, Brelsford, Gibson, Connor and Nugent and some changes have been suggested.

Governor Ferguson will go to San Antonio Monday evening for the opening of the cattlemen's convention here, which he is to make an address. He will discuss the quarantine to keep foot and mouth disease out of Texas, and show that such a precaution means the safety and the stability of the Texas cattle industry.

The governors absent and almost all the senators and representatives in Dallas will give the capitol a day of quiet.

Frisco Peace Day. San Francisco, March 7.—Leading churchmen and advocates of peace in California have fixed Sunday, April 18, ninth anniversary of the destruction of San Francisco by fire, as the day for the commencement of a worldwide appeal for peace, it was announced today.

Leaders of the movement have suggested that ministers throughout the world preach that day upon the subject "The Victory of the Pursuits of Peace."

CONSUL GENERAL IN NEW YORK DECLARES CAPITAL OF WARRING NATION WILL SEE PEACE ESTABLISHED, AND DENIES STORIES OF STARVATION.

REPORT ABOUT THE CONDITIONS

Brazilian Minister in Messages to Washington Intimates That Things Remain Unchanged and Populace Still Feels Effects of Possible Famine and Rioting.

New York, March 7.—General Obregon does not intend to desert Mexico City but to remain there to establish peace and order, according to a statement made here today by Francisco Elias, Carranza's consul general in New York. The statement follows:

"I have purposely refrained from making any comment on the news regarding the situation in Mexico City until I have made personal inquiry into the conditions there. I have communicated with General Obregon and the first chief, Carranza, and both assure me that the stories are not only greatly exaggerated, but certain allegations without foundation.

"General Obregon informs me that he does not contemplate leaving the city at its mercy, but is gradually bringing peace and order.

"Neither is it true that people are at the point of starvation."

WEATHER AND FRUIT.

According to M. Falkner the freeze of Saturday night did not extensive damage to local fruit, but prospects last night were that a heavier frost would form, and the temperature would be lower than that of Saturday night. In this case, Mr. Falkner feared there would be considerable damage.

Dr. E. Block predicted last night about 9 o'clock that there would be considerable frost. "The weather has not much changed enough to tell just what damage Saturday night's freeze did. It did some, however, but I fear that Sunday night will be colder and may have more serious results, especially if it fails to cloud up or the wind does not blow." There was no wind and it was clear and cold.

Mr. Falkner said the early peaches are not in bloom and will not suffer, but the late fruit is blooming.

EFFECT OF THE NEW TWENTY-EIGHT MEN TARIFF ON INDUSTRY PLACED ON TRIAL

SECRETARY REDFIELD MAKES PUBLIC FIRST INVESTIGATION. CONDITION OF PLANTS.

Washington, March 7.—Results of the first investigation ordered by the department of commerce to determine the effect of the new tariff upon industry were made public tonight by Secretary Redfield in the form of a report by D. M. Harsley, commercial agent of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce on industrial conditions in Montgomery county, Pa.

The report showed, the secretary said in a letter of transmittal to President Wilson, that the effect of the tariff on manufacturing establishments of Montgomery county was negligible and that conditions complained of there were due to "injurious trade customs," and "unintelligent competition in some lines."

In December the Montgomery county manufacturers' association wrote to President Wilson complaining that conditions in its section were deplorable as a result of the depressing effect of the new tariff on industry. Mr. Harsley was sent into the county soon afterward to make a thorough investigation. He inspected and reported on thirty plants, including textile factories, lumber mills and iron and steel works.

According to the report there was a falling off in the number of men employed in some of the plants, but more than the average amount of money had been spent in improvements during the past year. The inspector found the banks of the community in good condition and a substantial increase in property values was reported.

The managements of half of the establishments visited, the report said, admitted that the tariff could not affect them.

Compared with 5399 employees in the 30 plants a year ago, at the time of the investigation 4629 were employed.

HARRY KENDALL THAW WILL FACE COURT ON CHARGE OF ESCAPE

SLAYER OF STANFORD WHITE WHO FLED FROM STATE HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE AT MATTEAWAN IN AUGUST, 1913, MUST AGAIN STAND TRIAL.

BRIEF OF MAN'S CAREER

Killing at Madison Square Roof Garden in 1906 the Beginning of Series of Episodes, Including Two Arraignments in New York—Refuses to See Newspapersmen on Counsel's Advice.

New York, March 7.—Harry Kendall Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, will be placed on trial tomorrow in the supreme court on the charge of conspiracy growing out of his escape from the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan in August, 1913.

Thaw spent today quietly in the Tombs. He read and smoked but refused to see anyone excepting his counsel. Ever since he was brought back to the Tombs six weeks ago today, Thaw has declined to see newspaper men. In this respect, it is said he has obeyed instructions from his counsel not to discuss his case as he was formerly wont to do.

When Thaw faces the court again tomorrow his counsel will include John H. Stanchfield, Morgan J. O'Brien and Axel I. Smith, formerly assistant United States district attorney. Opposed to these and representing the state of New York will be Franklin Kennedy and Frederick Cook, deputy attorneys general, while James O'Malley, assistant district attorney, will represent New York county.

Thaw has been prisoner or fugitive since the night of June 25, 1906, when he shot and killed Stanford White at the Madison Square Roof Garden. After two trials, the first of which resulted in a disagreement, Thaw was acquitted on the ground of insanity and sent to Matteawan.

On Sunday morning, August 17, 1912, Thaw escaped in an automobile eluded capture for two days and finally was arrested at Contonook, Canada. He was subsequently released by the Canadian authorities and sent into Vermont. He fled to Colebrook, N. H., where he obtained counsel and prepared to fight against returning to Matteawan.

A writ of habeas corpus was obtained from a federal judge at Concord and Thaw automatically became a government charge.

His fight against extradition eventually reached the United States supreme court, which decided against him.

Thaw's counsel is expected to contend that Thaw cannot be convicted of the conspiracy charge, while still insane, and that the state in pressing a conspiracy charge, virtually has admitted insanity; while the state, on the other hand, it is understood, will maintain that Thaw might conspire to commit an unlawful act but still be legally in the custody of the state as an insane charge.

Conspiracy is misdemeanor and the maximum penalty is one year in the penitentiary and a fine of $500.

Five men indicted on charges of aiding Thaw to escape will be tried with him.

Arkansas River at Little Rock on Rise

Little Rock, Ark., March 7.—The Arkansas river at Little Rock today reached a stage of 21.8 which is one-half foot less than flood stage. Flood stage is predicted by the local weather bureau for tomorrow night, or Tuesday and many planters living along the river have left their homes in anticipation. Thus far no considerable damage is reported. The White river is at flood stage but has begun to fall in its upper reaches so that no danger is anticipated. A dispatch from Arkadelphia says that the swollen Ouachita river has overflowed miles of lowland and that it is believed many cattle have perished.

Catering to People Who Care

Is one of the big factors of our business. We are well aware of the fact that a large per cent of the trade does not care, nor bothers about that which is served them. However, on the other hand, there are others who are quite critical, those who demand the best, and will have nothing but that which is first class.

That we are distributors of First Class food products among "classy consumers" is a conceded fact in Waco—in fact,

Turks and Allies Bested by British

London, March 7.—British troops occupying the head of the Persian gulf located two Turkish forces, accompanied by hostile tribesmen during the past week and in the fighting which followed heavy casualties were inflicted on the Turks and their allies, while the British troops suffered no losses, according to a report on the fighting issued tonight by the Marquis of Crewe, secretary of state for India. The statement says: "For some time it had been known that two or three regiments of Turkish troops, together with Turkish Beni Lam tribesmen from Amman, the Tigris river, with contingents of Persian Beni Lam Turf and other disaffected tribesmen hostile to the British, were in the Ahwaz (in Khuzistan). The Ahwaz was dispatched on a reconnaissance in force to ascertain their numbers and disposition."

"On March 3 the enemy, who had been located at Ghadir and who apparently had been further reinforced the previous week, turned out in great strength. Their number was estimated at about 12,000. In the course of our withdrawal the enemy made a determined effort to cut off the reconnoitering party."

"Several hand-to-hand encounters took place, in which the attackers were held successfully at bay while our party made good its retirement. From reports received and supported by the absence of all further activity, it appears that the enemy lost no less than 200 to 300 killed, including brothers of the Beni Turf, Beni Lam, and other tribesmen. Our casualties were 500 to 600 wounded. Our casualties were three officers killed, five wounded, three British rank and file killed, one wounded, five Indian officers killed, one wounded, four Indian rank and file killed, 55 wounded, 115."

"On the same date a cavalry reconnaissance was made in the direction of Nakala and 25 miles northwest of Basra (on the Persian gulf). The British were on return to camp were followed by a body of some 1,500 hostile horsemen. This enemy force was skillfully drawn on to a concealed position occupied by infantry, with machine guns and field artillery. The enemy fled back to Nakala after having suffered heavily. Our losses in this reconnaissance were: British officers killed, 2; wounded, 2; Indian officers killed, 2; rank and file, 4."

WILSON SELECTS THE DATE OF CONFERENCE

FINANCIAL MEETING IN WASHINGTON WILL BE HELD ON MAY 10.

$50,000 GIVEN FOR EXPENSES

Secretary McAdoo Says All Foreign Governments Respond Favorably—Invite Bankers.

Washington, March 7.—President Wilson has selected Monday, May 10, as the date for the Pan-American financial conference in this city, at which the ministers of finance and leading bankers of Central and South American countries will meet financial and treasury officials of the United States to discuss the establishment of more satisfactory financial and commercial relations between the nations of the western hemisphere. A statement announcing the date tonight, Secretary McAdoo said all of the foreign governments had responded favorably regarding the conference and appropriated $50,000 for expenses. "The secretary of the treasury," said Mr. McAdoo, "is given authority to invite in his discretion representative bankers to participate in the conference."

"This discretion will be exercised so as to obtain the attendance of as large a number of our representative bankers as is practicable, in order that a comprehensive discussion may be had of existing financial conditions throughout the western hemisphere and of the measures that should be adopted to strengthen the financial and trade relations between the United States and our Central and South American neighbors. A suitable program will be carefully studied and announced in due time."

"The commercial relations between the United States and Central and South America will also be considered as an essential part of the financial discussion. The secretary of commerce will be asked to attend the conference and also the members of the federal reserve board. The secretary of state and all other members of the cabinet will be asked to participate in the deliberations."

"A similar invitation will be extended to the diplomatic representatives of the various Central and South American countries accredited to Washington, and to John Barrett, director of the Pan-American union."

"The only disappointment in connection with this conference arises out of the failure of the shipping bill, a measure which had practically been passed by the Senate, to reach the House of Representatives. The full benefit of the forthcoming financial conference cannot be realized unless the necessary ocean trade transportation facilities are provided, but the conference will be a vast amount of good anyway, and will demonstrate more clearly than ever the necessity for the creation of a merchant marine under the American flag."

"One of the things which the federal reserve act seeks to accomplish is the extension of American banking facilities to foreign countries. An effort will be made to discover the best means of enabling our bankers to extend their operations in Central and South American countries."

"It is a significant fact that our exports to South America reached the record for the year 1914 in the months of October, November and December, when they were reduced to less than half of those for the same months of 1913. This decline is in great measure due to the scarcity of freight now being charged."

Conditions in City.

Washington, March 7.—Dispatches from the Brazilian minister in Mexico City received tonight indicated that conditions in the capital were unchanged; that the populace still feared the effects of the famine and that there were dangers of rioting should General Obregon's forces enter the city.

Two communications have been sent to the American Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz for presentation to Carranza and both are phrased in strong and most explicit terms, pointing out the serious consequences that must ensue if Carranza's representatives have not made of such an urgent character that officials here confidently expect him to take steps to improve conditions."

There have been indications in the last 24 hours that General Carranza might instruct General Obregon to permit the international relief committee to take charge of the situation, giving them the transportation facilities they desire to bring supplies into the city.

An element of much danger has arisen, however, in the rumored friction between General Obregon and General Carranza, the exact extent of which is unknown to officials here. It is known that General Obregon was much irritated when General Carranza revoked the tax levied by Obregon on foreigners recently and since that time official dispatches say anti-foreign sentiment has been fostered if not instilled by Obregon himself.

The possibility that General Villa, who is now at Guadalajara, might change his military campaign temporarily from his northern direction to turn his entire attention to recapturing Mexico City was looked upon in some official quarters as a possible solution of the situation, inasmuch as such a move, if successful, would give uninterrupted passage for supplies from the American border by rail.

Diplomatists as well as officials continued to show their concern over the problem. None of the embassies or legations had any additional advice, but the inquiries which were made by them of each other revealed the extent of their interest.

President Wilson discussed the situation with Secretary Bryan, who while admitting its gravity, others held that the efforts which the American government was making to find a solution for the problem in the Mexican capital not without hope of success.

Until some definite idea is obtained of what the attitude of General Carranza is to be toward the representations sent by the United States and the extent of his control over Obregon is defined, it is unlikely that any further steps will be taken by the Washington government.

One of the sidelights of the situation is the talk among diplomatists of some form of allied intervention such as occurred in China during the Boxer uprising, should the situation in the capital grow worse. While united action by the United States with any of the European countries is not believed possible, the suggestions of members of Congress and others that some of the Pan-American nations together with the United States should undertake a relief expedition, were discussed in diplomatic circles especially.

The remoteness of the South American countries from Mexico and the fact that they are not as vitally interested in Mexican affairs as the United States, is given by some diplomatists from the Pan-American nations as a reason for thinking any joint action unlikely.

At practically all the embassies and legations, however, the dispatches that have been received tell of a desperate condition of affairs, the story of which has not yet been told on account of the rigid censorship maintained at Vera Cruz by the Carranza authorities.

Such dispatches as have gotten through recently say Mexico City is suffering from starvation for thousands would not be surprising if relief does not come soon. Carranza's order to Obregon prohibiting the populace from using the money issued by Villa has been a reason for thinking any joint action unlikely.

Obregon was given orders to evacuate the capital if the people objected to the repudiation of Carranza's currency. Disturbances by the Carranza forces permitted a partial exchange of Villa money, but received promptly a curt telegram from Carranza.

In this message, which was published in Vera Cruz, Carranza not permitted to go to the United States, Carranza informed Obregon not to waste his energies ameliorating conditions arising from the shortage of money since the people would blame for the situation the Carranza currency, if it conditions did not improve, he should evacuate, leaving the situation to be solved by the Carranza forces, who were specifically instructed Obregon not to use his army in quelling riots.

Bread is almost unobtainable in Mexico City and there is a lack of foodstuffs. Many bakeries are put to rest. Breads made of bran and extortionate prices are charged for it. Charcoal is used for cooking and sold for fifteen pesos a sack, where formerly it was bought for one peso. Almost every train from Mexico City brings more refugees to Vera Cruz. In the latter city where Carranza rules, expression of bitter resentment is heard against the people of Mexico City for failing to support Carranza while he was there. The public in Vera Cruz learn of developments only through out of the American newspaper, the circulation of which is restricted. The censorship there prevents the transmission to or from Vera Cruz of any news under severe penalties to those who evade the spirit of the prohibition as well as the letter.

Rumors of the wild character often spread through Vera Cruz on this account. Recently there was a report that British marines were landed at Tampico. An effort was made by the Washington government to send an ultimatum to Carranza, and still another that France and Great Britain were urging Spain into active intervention.

A statement was issued by the Carranza agency here tonight said to be based on advices from Vera Cruz, saying foreigners were not in danger at Mexico City or that General Obregon

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced by evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of Waco, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following:

MAP INDICATING NEW RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE AGAINST GERMANS

This map shows how the offensive of the Russians, according to reports from Petrograd, has divided the campaign in northern Poland into two parts. The German advance across the frontier had reached as far in Poland as shown by the dotted line on the map when the Russians launched a series of attacks from the line of forts to which they had retired after having been driven from East Prussia. Two offensive (3) were directed at Praszynsk, the pivotal position of this whole front, one from the south from the Narew river and the other from the west from Ostrolenka, Lomza and Pultusk. Faced by these two fronts the Germans were compelled after particularly violent fighting, to evacuate Praszynsk and, according to Petrograd advices, the German retreat is still in progress. This attack, the Russians say, split the German line between Ostrolenka and Praszynsk and has carried the Russians into the Augustow forest, where they are now being backed against the Mazurian lakes, which Von Hindenburg used to great strategic advantage in defeating the Russians. As to the western portions, late dispatches from Petrograd speak of the likelihood of great battles developing across the line from Mlava to Thorn.

King Alfonso of Spain Reported Seriously Ill

was stirring up anti-foreign sentiment. The statement said: "The food situation has greatly improved and there is no fear of famine. The water supply has been restored. The activities of the guerrilla forces. There is no danger of rioting by mobs, when Obregon will move north against Villa forces, as he will in all likelihood leave a garrison in Mexico City. The arrest of several capitalists in Mexico City by General Obregon for refusing to contribute to the assistance of Carranza has been caused by the confession of a number of small merchants that their refusal to contribute had been occasioned by the advice of the arrested merchants, although they themselves were willing to make the contributions."

Villa's Army Entains.
El Paso, Tex., March 7.—The main army of General Villa entrained today at Guadalajara and started toward Aguas Calientes. The number of troops in Villa's command was not given in the advices but it is understood their movement on the west coast metropolis is the initial move in the expected attack on the Carranza garrisons at Vera Cruz and Tampico.

Duval West and George C. Carothers, representatives of the Washington government, accompanied General Villa. Recent private advices from Mexico City stated that upon learning of the intention of the foreign diplomats to leave the city, General Zapata invited them to join him at his headquarters at Cuernavaca. The Zapata troops, it was said, continue attacks on the southern extremity of the city. The small Villa garrison at Bosque Bonito, opposite Sierra Blanca, Tex., mutinied last Friday. The garrison commander was reported as having been killed.

Carranza Troops to Move.
Eagle Pass, Tex., March 7.—Preparations were being made today by the 200 Carranza troops remaining at Piedras Negras, opposite here, to march for Nuevo Laredo. Reports reaching here today said 1,500 Villa troops had captured Sabins and were marching toward Piedras Negras. The Villa troops expected to reach Piedras Negras Tuesday next.

Heavy losses on both sides were reported in the fighting at Sabins. The undercurrent of feeling among Piedras Negras residents apparently is for Villa, and no panic, such as occurred once before when the town changed hands, was expected. A former civil living here, have said that when Villa forces took Piedras Negras they would return there.

French Gain Ground.
Paris, March 7.—The following official statement regarding the progress of the war was issued here today by the war office:

"We continued to gain ground to the north of Arras, in the Notre Dame de Lorette region, where our counter attacks resulted in the seizure of several trenches, the enemy's losses were important."

"In Champagne we progressed slightly north of Perthes and northwest of Beauséjour."

"In the Vosges we captured successively west of Munster two summits of Little and Great Reich Ackerkopf. The enemy counter attack from the Muehlbach and Saint Olfwehr, that is from the south and northeast, was repulsed."

"Moreover, on the right bank of the Fecht river we seized Imberg, one kilometer (two-thirds of a mile) southeast of Fultzen. This success was completed further north by the capture of Hill Hartmann-Weller. The enemy repulsed a heavy attack by a German battalion, which lost heavily and left many prisoners in our hands."

German Attacks Falls.
Paris, March 7.—The following official communication was issued this evening:

"To the north of Arras at Notre Dame de Lorette, the Germans attempted a counter attack, which did not succeed. Subsequently they delivered three counter attacks which also failed."

"In Champagne to the west of Perthes we gained a footing in a very strongly fortified wood and captured prisoners to the north of the same village."

"We repulsed a counter attack on the ridge to the northeast of Lensauil. Ground was gained and we carried another trench to the north of Beauséjour."

"In the forest of Consoyev north of Verdun, we repulsed counter attacks by the Germans. We made progress on the banks of the Reich Ackerkopf and took prisoners at Hartmann-Weller. Here we repulsed five counter attacks."

Newspapers and Home Industry

The Short-sightedness of Some Business People Toward Publishers.

Relations between the newspapers and the home industries and merchants of a small city or town as they exist in many instances, and as they should exist, was the subject of a recent statement issued by A. W. Peters, general manager of the Waterloo (Ia.) Courier, to the members of the Associated Iowa Dailies, of which he is president. Taking his own paper as a basis, Mr. Peters said:

"There are frequently in cities, large and small, retail dealers who form a trade distributing element by a sort of established policy of fighting newspaper prices for advertising that have been pronounced by national advertisers to be just and fair."

"Seemingly to vent their spite, because they cannot force cut rates, they withdraw their advertising for a few weeks or months and endeavor to get publicity by printed hand bills or circular letters, and they also try to influence others to follow their example."

"Their talk and actions in this straining process to tear down legitimate business enterprise become known throughout the adjacent country, and tend to destroy confidence among people in the trading area by giving them the impression that the city is made up of a quarrelsome, 'get even' community endeavoring to be rich by defeating each other in a questionable manner and business in a questionable manner."

"This element of citizenship as described will do more to harm a city than any other factor which oppresses trade."

"Good times and better business are promoted satisfactorily only by co-operation and other manifestations of confidence."

"Everyone who is interested in a city should at least conduct himself so as not to drive trade to the towns on the other end of the interurbans."

Hurting the Town's Reputation.
"Some short-sightedness of a newspaper editor, or the withdrawal of the paper from the Waterloo Evening Courier and other similar papers having employees whose families aggregate approximately 500 persons."

"If these should recent attacks of certain advertisers on newspapers by withdrawal of their patronage, the loss to the stores would be very much in excess of the loss of advertising to the newspaper."

"Moreover, a withdrawal of advertiser patronage undeniably means the withdrawal of the paper's whole volume of readers' patronage at the store, at least in a large measure, and there have been notable instances in some cities where readers have publicly resented the methods of certain storekeepers have of punishing a newspaper for endeavoring to get a living price for its product."

"Publishers have no complaint to make of this sort of thing, but they are made to suffer, because the merchant withdraws his advertising for only a comparatively short period, but the injury done the home town is a serious matter, all admit."

"It has been recently discovered by auditors going through the books of the Waterloo Evening Courier that that paper pays out more by the wages to employees and for material bought in Waterloo for producing the paper more money by many thousands of dollars than the total sum paid annually to the paper by all the Waterloo advertisers combined."

Advertisers Get Their Money Back.
"In other words, all daily newspapers being very much alike in this respect, the local advertisers have a very sure opportunity of getting back practically all of the money they spend with the newspaper from the employees of the newspaper alone, and of course many thousands of dollars in addition from readers generally through the merchants' advertising in the newspaper."

"It is readily seen from the above that if a newspaper did not have its foreign advertising and its subscription list, it would be a big money loser."

"The of every business is making his prices low enough to sell the goods he offers to the public. This is nothing more than good common sense. The money they receive from the public is what they need to get along. It is not to be sold at as low a price as he can afford and thus earn a fair profit and make his establishment popular with the public."

"The astute merchant who is more alert than his competitor may be able to undersell by underbidding, but there is no such thing possible in the newspaper business. Each year the publisher must pay for the material entering into his newspaper, as well as for competent labor, fixed prices that may not be changed."

King Constantine Asks New Ministry

Paris, March 7.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Athens says:

"King Constantine has accepted the resignation of Premier Venizelos and his cabinet and has requested M. Zaimis, governor of the National Bank, to form a ministry. M. Zaimis asked the king to give him until Monday to consult with his friends."

"The Turkish minister Salih Bey has declared openly during the last few days that massacres would take place in Turkey if Greece broke with the Porte. King Constantine, the German minister, informed the diplomatic corps yesterday that Austria and Germany would immediately declare war on Greece the day that Greece moved against Turkey."

"The correspondent says the resignation of the cabinet was brought about because the king did not approve of the government's invasion of the war, and gives the following details:

"At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and remained with the king for over an hour. The chief of the staff, staff, and the principal officers also were at the palace to give their advice if necessary."

"Returning to his residence, the premier notified the ministers of the resolution of the king. The ministers then went to the chamber, where the premier announced the resignation of the cabinet. News of this action caused excitement in diplomatic circles, where it was a surprise."

"Yesterday Premier Venizelos, on receiving certain foreign ministers, announced to them that he would resign the approval of the king, who now has called Alexander Zaimis (a former premier) for consultation."

"Concerning the events which took place in the cabinet, the correspondent says: 'This morning when Premier Venizelos left the palace where a deputation on the anniversary of the taking of Janina was celebrated, they were met by the king and the principal officers also were at the palace to give their advice if necessary.'"

"The Greek people who have a real adoration for their king, have no doubt that they will follow the rights of the nation and will lead them to the way of victory."

"Salih Bey, the Turkish minister, visited Premier Venizelos this afternoon."

781,000 War Prisoners.
Berlin, March 7.—Among the items given out for publication by the Overseas News Agency are the following:

"Members of the Prussian army, who have been victims of prisoner camps, have received information that at present there are 781,000 war prisoners in Germany, an increase since the end of 1914 of over 200,000 men."

"Latest reports received in Berlin from Constantinople says no damage has been done to the Dardanelles forts or Turkish garrisons and that the ships are now shooting from a longer range. British ships have been twice struck by Turkish shells and an attempt by the allies to land troops were repelled by the Turkish batteries."

"A dispatch from Baghdad that advances Turkish troops supported by volunteers, has been received from the south of the Euphrates and Tigris rivers, 35 miles north of Basra."

"Prisoners are said to have been taken, and in addition the British suffered heavy losses in killed or wounded."

"The last of the body left at the fleeing Russians in the battle of the Mazingian has been brought into Berlin. It includes two thousand prisoners of all varieties, most of them in an undamaged condition."

"Advices from Sofia say that Serbia is planning an invasion of Albania and an advance to the Adriatic. At several points it is stated the Serbians already have crossed the Albanian border."

Berlin Official Statement.
Berlin, March 7.—The following statement on the progress of the war was issued today by the German war office:

"Between the sea and the Somme there were only artillery duels yesterday. Attempts of the enemy to advance during the night south of Ypres failed."

"Our troops made progress in Champagne. We took a few trenches and about 60 prisoners. French tanks were destroyed at our positions northeast of

PASTOR AUG. DIDZUN TALKS ON GOD'S GIFT

SUBJECT OF SERMON TAKEN
FROM ST. LUKE, CHAP.
TERO 11-13.

JESUS TO HIS DISCIPLES

Christ Taught Them What Prayer
Was, How to Pray and Object.

Rev. Aug. Didzun, pastor Methodist Episcopal church, preached yesterday from St. Luke 11:13: "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your Heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him?"

In part he said: Jesus spoke these words to His disciples, who overheard him in prayer and asked Him to teach them also how to pray. Christ Jesus then said unto them: "When ye pray, say our Father which art in Heaven, etc. They have learned that prayer well, for they never forgot it. Christ now taught them what prayer was, how to pray and what to pray for. It is this last thought that I am very much concerned to impress today upon my hearers.

Jesus called the object of prayer indirectly a good gift. A gift that only God can and gladly will give. A gift of which we are in such great need. A gift that we can have if we ask God for it. It is not health, as good as health is, nor wealth or friends, it is, to use Christ's own words, the Holy Spirit, or as a very aged person once said to me, "The Holy Spirit is my life." She meant soul life, of course. The greatest loss to humanity is soul life. The best that Christ Jesus could bring to us was soul life, and that what we are seeking so eagerly is soul life. Some seek it in amusements, others in philosophy, etc., but life can not be found there. If we stop and listen to Him who said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor, I will give you rest," and go to Him, the world's Savior, He surely would teach us, too, how to pray, and what to pray for, or how to seek and how to find our life. There is no greater loss than to lose life, and no greater gain than to find life. And as the Holy Spirit shall be our guide, our help, our comfort, etc., thus will it be our life.

That fact that Jesus taught His disciples to pray for the Holy Spirit goes to show that we are in great need of it. The more men realize their sinful condition as St. John has it in Rev. 3:17, "wretched, miserable, poor, blind and naked," the more they will see that they need the Holy Spirit, and will pray for it.

It goes to show again that God is willing to give us just what we need. His Spirit, to enable us to come to Him. This we can see best in the story that Jesus told of the prodigal son. Furthermore, it shows very plainly that everyone is invited to ask, and that it shall be given to them that ask Him. What glory it is to follow God, be in Christ's stead and help the weak, the poor, the needy, and how much joy it gives to think after God, and all this through that what Christ calls the Holy Spirit, that the Father sends to them that ask Him.

How much better would it be in this world if men would possess more of God's Spirit; how light would our duties seem if we had more of that Spirit, we would then enjoy the life for others and do what God wants us to do.

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Belton, March 7.—At least 3600 gardens will be grown in back yards and on vacant city lots in this city during the coming spring as a result of a garden campaign which has been in progress for the past week. In response to invitations from the Texas Industrial Congress, representatives of the Dallas A. & M. College club, the Dallas Woman's Forum, the City Federation of Women's clubs, the Dallas Garden association and a number of citizens, met Henry R. Herndon of the congress, last Monday morning at the Chamber of Commerce to outline plans.

Mr. Herndon spoke briefly of similar garden campaigns which he recently conducted in Houston and San Antonio, and which representatives of the congress have waged in other cities and towns. He also announced that assistance would be rendered by the University of Texas, the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, the College of Industrial Arts and the state department of agriculture. The three institutions sent members of the faculty to co-operate, and the agricultural department was represented by Paul Wipprecht.

Through letters from the president of the board of education, the speakers were welcomed to every city school in Dallas and given opportunity to explain to the children the benefits and advantages of gardening, and the cash prizes offered by the Texas Industrial Congress for best gardens of various classes, cost of production considered. The work included both public and private schools; in the latter a courteous hearing was given and visits were paid to the Terrell, Hardin, the University of Dallas and other schools in and about the city. Valuable aid was rendered by the various mothers' clubs, in most cases a member of the school club accompanying the campaigners on their rounds among the schools.

Shed the old beginning of the campaign the Texas A. & M. college club of Dallas had undertaken to secure for the use of unemployed men and women vacant lots on which they might raise gardens and thus mean the cost of living to a measurable degree. Members of this club who were appointed to undertake the matter joined hands with the congress in its campaign. Meanwhile the garden work was pushed among the men and women of the city, as well as among the schools and school children.

"While we are visiting the schools," said Paul Wipprecht, "we are not limiting this work to children. If our people will undertake gardening as these speakers desire and as we are urged to do, there will be many a family among them that will have more to eat than they would otherwise during the spring. It does not mean that they will purchase less from the stores, but merely that they will be able to live better. With the number we now have who are not working all the time, and whose incomes are small, the garden will mean the difference between mere existence and life with sufficient food to keep them able to work efficiently."

The Texas Industrial Congress plans to conduct a similar campaign next week in Fort Worth.

Lands Road Contract.

Belton, March 7.—J. F. McMullen of this city has been notified that a contract for constructing a paved road has been awarded him at San Marcos by the Hays County Commissioners' court and has gone to the latter place to make preparations to begin the work at an early date.

All Passengers Safe.

Paris, March 7.—The fire aboard the liner La Touraine is mastered and all aboard are safe, it is announced here.

Escorted by the Rotterdam, La Touraine is proceeding under her own steam to the harbor, where she is due tomorrow.

Mr. Nelson's Condition.

Kansas City, March 7.—The condition of William Rockhill Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, was unchanged today. Mr. Nelson has been confined to his home for several months and yesterday his condition became so serious that members of his family were summoned to his bedside. Today was Mr. Nelson's 74th birthday anniversary.

GARDENS PLANNED FOR VACANT LOTS

DALLAS MAKING READY TO UTILIZE ABOUT 3,600 BACK YARDS.

ALL ORGANIZATIONS JOIN

Texas Industrial Congress Heads Movement and Issues Invitations.

Dallas, March 7.—At least 3600 gardens will be grown in back yards and on vacant city lots in this city during the coming spring as a result of a garden campaign which has been in progress for the past week. In response to invitations from the Texas Industrial Congress, representatives of the Dallas A. & M. College club, the Dallas Woman's Forum, the City Federation of Women's clubs, the Dallas Garden association and a number of citizens, met Henry R. Herndon of the congress, last Monday morning at the Chamber of Commerce to outline plans.

Mr. Herndon spoke briefly of similar garden campaigns which he recently conducted in Houston and San Antonio, and which representatives of the congress have waged in other cities and towns. He also announced that assistance would be rendered by the University of Texas, the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, the College of Industrial Arts and the state department of agriculture. The three institutions sent members of the faculty to co-operate, and the agricultural department was represented by Paul Wipprecht.

Through letters from the president of the board of education, the speakers were welcomed to every city school in Dallas and given opportunity to explain to the children the benefits and advantages of gardening, and the cash prizes offered by the Texas Industrial Congress for best gardens of various classes, cost of production considered. The work included both public and private schools; in the latter a courteous hearing was given and visits were paid to the Terrell, Hardin, the University of Dallas and other schools in and about the city. Valuable aid was rendered by the various mothers' clubs, in most cases a member of the school club accompanying the campaigners on their rounds among the schools.

Shed the old beginning of the campaign the Texas A. & M. college club of Dallas had undertaken to secure for the use of unemployed men and women vacant lots on which they might raise gardens and thus mean the cost of living to a measurable degree. Members of this club who were appointed to undertake the matter joined hands with the congress in its campaign. Meanwhile the garden work was pushed among the men and women of the city, as well as among the schools and school children.

"While we are visiting the schools," said Paul Wipprecht, "we are not limiting this work to children. If our people will undertake gardening as these speakers desire and as we are urged to do, there will be many a family among them that will have more to eat than they would otherwise during the spring. It does not mean that they will purchase less from the stores, but merely that they will be able to live better. With the number we now have who are not working all the time, and whose incomes are small, the garden will mean the difference between mere existence and life with sufficient food to keep them able to work efficiently."

The Texas Industrial Congress plans to conduct a similar campaign next week in Fort Worth.

Lands Road Contract.

Belton, March 7.—J. F. McMullen of this city has been notified that a contract for constructing a paved road has been awarded him at San Marcos by the Hays County Commissioners' court and has gone to the latter place to make preparations to begin the work at an early date.

All Passengers Safe.

Escorted by the Rotterdam, La Touraine is proceeding under her own steam to the harbor, where she is due tomorrow.

Kansas City, March 7.—The condition of William Rockhill Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, was unchanged today. Mr. Nelson has been confined to his home for several months and yesterday his condition became so serious that members of his family were summoned to his bedside. Today was Mr. Nelson's 74th birthday anniversary.

A Practically Perfect Preparation.

YEARS of experience have enabled Mr. Fletcher to make Castoria a practically perfect preparation. These years of labor: the amount of money required to introduce its merits to the public: the investment in its manufacture, including the most modern machinery, mean a vast amount of invested capital. It follows that the greatest care is exercised in the selection of each ingredient, and the greatest attention is paid to every detail of its preparation. The result is the practically perfect preparation in the finished product; Fletcher's Castoria.

Herein lies the guarantee of the absolute safety in the use of Fletcher's Castoria for the baby, and the warning against irresponsible makers of imitations and counterfeits. The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher that is printed in black on the wrapper and red on the bottle is the mother's safeguard.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful
Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. John W. Derrick, of Lexington, S. C., says: "My children cry for Castoria, I could not do without it."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gaines, of Ripley, Tenn., say: "We enclose our baby's picture hoping it will induce some poor tired mothers to give your Castoria a trial. We have used it since baby was two weeks old."

Mrs. J. G. Parman, of Nashville, Tenn., says: "The perfect health of my baby is due to your Castoria—the first and only medicine he has taken. He is never satisfied with one dose, he always cries for more."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Johnson, of Stevens Point, Wis., say: "When our baby was two weeks old he cried so much we did everything for him, then got some Castoria and he is now strong and fat. We would not be without it, and are very thankful to you."

HON. FRENCH SPENCER OUT FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Decatur, March 7.—The reports of a speakership boom for Hon. French Spencer, coming out of Austin, are most gratifying to the friends of Mr. Spencer in this section of the state. It is reported that the "talk of Spencer for speaker two years hence" is gaining force in Austin in legislative circles, several representatives taking the matter in charge, and are now starting a campaign for the Wise county representative. The numerous friends of Mr. Spencer in Decatur and throughout Wise county are happy over the splendid recognition given their representative on his first appearance in public official life.

Mr. Spencer is one of the youngest members of the state assembly. He is a graduate of the state university, finishing in the law department with high honors. After being granted license to practice law he returned to his home here and opened up his office as attorney at law. When the interest in Mr. Spencer's political career was one of the handsomest ever given a candidate in Wise county. Mr. Spencer is a young man of strong prohibition "proclivities," and during the statewide campaign he has been telling speeches in behalf of the cause.

He is a pro through and through, opposing saloons publicly from the day he made his first speech in the high school. As an orator he has few equals among the young southerners. He is a keen lance in debate and a tower of strength to the cause of democracy. He is the youngest son of Judge R. F. Spencer, ex-county judge of Wise county. His brothers are Charles F.

FANDOM GETS TASTE OF SOME BASEBALL

FIRST EXHIBITION GAMES ARE PLAYED BY DIVISIONS AT KATY PARK.

MANY PLEASING FEATURES

Old Timers Show Up Well and New Men Present Excellent Form for Work.

Waco fandom had a taste of baseball yesterday—just enough to make them wish for more. It was in an exhibition game at Katy park, the first of the training season.

Two divisions of the Nava contested—the Hickeyites and the Beesonites. The latter's aggregation won the game, but the score was an incident. Many features of the horsehide battle pleased the crowd and enthusiasm was plentiful in the grand stand and on the diamond. Hickey made a place for himself in the good will of Waco fandom by his headwork and many other signs of being a real baseball player. In left field he looks as good as Bob Clemens and his two hits out of four times at bat, one a two-bagger, assured fans that he can hit, even though the pitchers were putting nothing on the ball.

Beeson played third. He undoubtedly is a rattling good infielder, and three hits out of four times at bat leads to the belief that he will keep the old team average from shrinking, in spite of the loss of Tanner and Clemens. Beeson seems to be carrying a little more flesh than he probably will later in the season, but he is fast and looks like a ball player. Erwin, a Waco boy, pitched five innings against the Beeson crowd and went well for pre-season form. He is a big fellow with an easy delivery. Watson relieved him. "Mule" is about a hundred pounds lighter than he was when he joined the team at the end of last season, and looks to be in condition. In fact it may be that he has passed somebody else off on Hardy, for he resembles the last year recruit only in pitching and facial features. However, he looked good and his John Henry is attached to a Waco contract. Purcell, the tall left hander, pitched against the Hickey's. He has a good delivery and works as if he had toed the rubber a few times before coming to Texas. Of course, none of the pitchers let out Markle is an experienced man. He pitched part of the game, relieving the southpaw, and by his handling of himself indicated that he has finished that will keep him in this league. Cooney, a good-looking server, was the last exhibit of the Beeson crowd. He has a motion that is a little different from the common herd, looking something like Fenestras of the Panthers.

Harry Shear, a Waco boy who is working out with the Navigators, had quite a day, clouting out two hits in four times at bat, puncturing the left-field fence with a line drive. He also capped around a short like a veteran. His aim is true and he gave an all-round performance that may result in his signature to somebody's contract in the near future. Huber, last year's pitcher in the Trolley league, played a great game at second base. He handles himself well, and got a hit. If his hitting is up to his fielding indications he will be a class B ball player before the season is old. He played with the Beeson's, however, at second for the Hickey's, made a nice showing. Turkey Reilly was the hitting hero of the day, getting three hits in four times up, one three-bagger.

Yardley played first base for the Beeson's. He handled himself well, especially considering his newness at the position. Fred Wohleben held that corner for the opposing club and his fielding showed that he has little to do to get into mid-season form.

The weather has been against the bunch, and yesterday's exhibition was a surprise to all fans who really know the conditions. The men hoped about as if spring sickness is unknown, and several times the ball went over the diamond with all the zip and force of a shot. The Hickey's went to bat first and were retired in order by Lefty Purcell. Beeson came up with his way aggression and started the fireworks with a single to left and went to second when Erwin threw badly to Wohleben. Yardley drew a walk. Crichlow sacrificed, fly into the hands of Hickey at left. Beeson scoring. Yardley being caught before he got back to first. He had taken a walk. Crichlow's sacrifice. Reilly hit but was forced out by Walters.

The second inning went around like mid-season baseball. James got a hit. Walters being the only man to get a hit. In the third Hickey got a hit, but it failed to develop. In the fourth Marlie, Shear and Yardley figured in a neat double, killing Crichlow and Wohleben.

In the fifth Crichlow of the Beeson's drew a pass and started the stolen base record for the season by swiping second, and scored on Jost's error. Walters drove one through Mal, who touched it with his finger tips at short, and Reilly scored. Walters was killed at second by Wright to Mal and Shear fanned, followed by Huber, who went out to the pitcher.

In the sixth Marlie for the Beeson's hit, followed by a hit by Beeson and an error. Hickey doubled in that inning and scored when Crichlow did the same. Shear scored for the Beeson's in the eighth, when he hit, advanced on a hit by Jost, and over first and a single by Beeson.

Catchers Wright and Walters both look good. Culberson, a amateur, played left field for the Beeson's. He sits at bat as if he were playing a piano, but fields well. Grubb at third for the Hickey's looks like himself in spite of a lack of work.

The score: AR R H O A E. Hickey, 1st 4 1 2 3 1 0. Malquist, 2b 4 0 0 3 5 0. James, rf 3 0 1 2 3 0. Wohleben, 3b 4 0 0 12 0 0. Wright, c 3 0 0 2 4 0. Grubb, 2b 3 0 1 2 0 0. Jost, cf 1 0 1 2 0 0. Erwin, p 2 0 0 3 1 0. Watson, p 1 0 0 0 0 0.

FAIRCLOTH HAS "GRIPPE." "Rags" Faircloth, pitcher with the Navigators squad, was taken ill with a severe case of the grippé Saturday night and as a result could not take part in yesterday's exhibition game as was arranged.

The pitcher was confined to his bed all day yesterday, but was improved last night. He was a clean-cut young college man. He comes to Hardy well recommended, and looks to be a clever youngster.

Huggins Determined to Get Besch from New York Nationals

Marlin, March 7.—Manager Huggins of the St. Louis Nationals seems determined to get Besch from the New York Nationals relative to the deal whereby Poll Peritt, who skipped back from the Pedersals to the Nationals, went to McGraw. McGraw and Huggins held a long conference today but nothing was given out as to the result. After the conference with Besch, the result of which also was kept secret, Besch, it is said, does not desire to go with the Cardinals, but the matter is still problematical. A fish-try planned for the entertainment of the Giants remaining in camp here today was called off on account of the cold weather.

Close Race Waged Among the Schools

Showing the close race that was waged among several high school basketball teams, the state for the championship, Oak Cliff High School defeated Dallas Hi Saturday at Dallas 36 to 33. Waco Hi lost to Dallas 21 to 18. Oak Cliff beat Waco by a big score as a result of the unusual court at the Y. M. C. A. at Dallas, where the game was played. The fact that Waco played as close a game with Dallas as the team did, leads many to believe that on a court which could not give the home team an advantage Waco would stand a better chance. Waco played the Dallas game after the boys had had some chance in the Oak Cliff game to familiarize themselves with the court.

"Help Wanted."

It isn't every day that a play comes along that is just as good for "Daddy and his daughters" as for "Mamma and her boys" and it is many a year since the American stage has known a play of clean, clever, virile and optimistic American life of today that will compare with Jack Lait's "Help Wanted," which comes from a record-breaking success in New York and Chicago, to the Auditorium on March 10 for two performances. Most plays that make you think also make you sad or what is worse—tired. Many plays that make you laugh count in neither sense, wit or wisdom. And neither there are a lot of plays that are neither entertaining nor instructive. Nobody has yet decided that "Help Wanted" is more funny than philosophic or vice versa. It bubbles with clean humor and radiates amiable philosophy. It is intensely human and most convincingly real. Its romance is as tender and as winsome as romance in a business office could be, and yet the most romantic of its situations are tipped, if not barbed, with the salt and savor of a most characteristic American sense of comedy. It is a play that will linger long and pleasantly in the memory, for its most earnest passages and most impressive scenes are contrasted with the gracious humor and contagious merriment of an essentially up-to-date student of American life in the business world. There is no "problem" concealed or in evidence about the plot of "Help Wanted." It may be helpful to make the thoughtful think, but it will make them laugh, too, and the laughter of it all brings no hint or suggestion of shame or embarrassment. Keen wit and inherently funny situations mark the progress of this most natural and intimate drama of the present, and the splendid cast which comes here from its metropolitan successes has been personally selected and trained by Playwright Jack Lait himself.

AT THE HIPPODROME.

Yesterday was a memorable day in the annals of amusement in this city. It being the day of the opening of "The Christian," the Vitagraph-Leibler production of Hall Caine's superb love story and the really lovely Viola Allen's great success which is at this writing beyond the shadow of a doubt the most elaborate and most sumptuous, the most heart-stirring motion picture ever made in America. In all probability there has never been a feature film with a cast whose setting, nor in numbers measured anything like up to the standard attained in this masterpiece from the studios of the Vitagraph company of America, whose record shows wonderful achievement in the past as presented in "A Million Bids." My official wife and others.

Edith Storey as Glory Quayle in "The Christian" has given us an interpretation of the world's greatest heroine as far as concerns love stories. Not outdone by the idol of the stage, Miss Viola Allen with the possible exception of Blanche Sweet no actress of the screen has ever attempted the characterization of us difficult Edith Storey as the one rendered by Edith Storey as Glory Quayle.

It is demanded of those of us who watch motion pictures to recall that only a few years ago a motion picture was little more than "shifting photographs" all the action manifested at that time was known as the "chase" where one actor made a run for it and the other actor ran after him. Such a short time ago acting was unknown in photography. Those who saw "The Christian" and those who remember that this love story out-ranks any modern love story of the past or present and remember that even the stage production with Viola Allen left some part of this great story to the imagination. Those who came to witness the motion picture, wondering just what manner the wonderful theme would be given in the picture begins, that in the industry of motion pictures there is a reason for it being fourth in size and importance in the world's commerce and that pictures like "The Christian" have brought this great change about.

Earle Williams as John Storm in "The Christian," who was recently voted the most popular motion picture star, shows good reason for his selection.

"Heart of Flame."

(In two parts.)

Keith Gordon, a violinist, the protégé of Von Esdorf, has acquired a wonderful technique, but still lacks what his teacher calls "Heart of Flame."

This vital warmth in music comes to him after his meeting with Zira, a beautiful mountain girl, with whom he instantly falls in love. Then the young musician is called back to the city to fulfill a concert engagement. Fame crowns his efforts, but he is indifferent to the praise of great audiences. At last he tells Von Esdorf that his one desire is to return to his mountain sweetheart. The old music teacher, thinking only of his favorite pupil's career, persuades Zira to give up Keith. She tells him that she really loves him, but he is too proud to accept a mistake that he really loves her. He vows to kill Keith. Zira is warned of Checo's intent by Beppa, who loves the Gypsy. The mountain girl followed the would-be murderer to the city and into the theatre where she is playing. As the outlaws raise their arms to throw the knife, she springs upon him and in the struggle she stabs her. In the commotion which ensues Checo escapes. Keith recognizes in the girl, who has saved his life, his mountain sweetheart. Outside the audience is clamoring and he is persuaded to return to the stage. As one in a trance he pours into the violin Zira's "Heart of Flame."

MAJESTIC.

"Convict 666."

One of those good old plays on the order of "The Old Homestead" is the program at the Majestic theatre for the first half of the week, beginning with tonight's performance. It is a story of the sort that cannot be told in a more exacting. Full of drama and comedy, well balanced in all particulars, running throughout in a plot of real human interest, Miss Irving will assume the leading role, and other members of the company have parts just to their liking and acting—parts that they know and understand and put the best into.

The old minister with his ideas is one of the excellent characters and the part is strongly played.

After the village has become convinced of the old minister's peculiarities and while things are interesting in a gossip way, the convict returns. He is shunned at first but the young minister takes him up and after having the former prisoner's story, proving his innocence. In the end it is proven—and of course all ends well.

QUEEN.

"Rule G."

At the Queen theatre today and tomorrow patrons will witness one of the most expensive and carefully arranged pictures that has appeared in Waco in many weeks, in "Rule G."

The story is taken from Rufus Steele's story, "Keeping John Barleycorn Off the Train," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. The story deals with rule G, of a big railroad's rules of operation which orders that no employee must drink or be under the influence of drink while on duty.

The story opens with a scene of workmen actually at work among the machinery, showing their use of liquor and the death of one employee because of intoxication. The story goes on through various experiences of the railroad with insubordinate employees, including a riot, a train wreck because of a drunken engineer, and various other thrilling scenes, and a pleasing love story woven throughout the entire web of the production.

In the end, through the efforts of an earnest employee, we see the saloon replaced by an attractive railroad men's club and that particular railroad awarded a medal because of the absence of accidents and the safety afforded its passengers in transportation.

MARKETS

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW.

New Orleans, March 7.—Peace talk played an important part in the cotton market last week, sending prices up when the market appeared to be under bearish control and about to go into a marked decline under the influence of the stand the European allies made toward imports by Germany and the almost prohibitive insurance rates. On Tuesday prices were 4 to 11 points under last week's level but a quick recovery from this level was made, the high being made on the last session of the week. The close was at a net gain of 40 to 42 points.

Exports for the week amounted to 364,615 bales, which compared with 687,000 bales for the entire month of March last year. The effect of these figures was intensified by reports of a large spot short interest in Texas.

Preparations for planting were watched with great interest. This week the situation abroad is bound to play a prominent part in the cotton market. Toward the end of last week it was rumored that the allies were about to give up their determination regard cotton as a contraband of war. Any such official announcement would, of course, be followed by a stronger market.

The new crop is beginning to loom up as a strong influence because of the signs of a material cut in acreage.

COTTON GOODS REVIEW.

New York, March 7.—Cotton goods buying for late delivery has been light in the primary markets. Deliveries in old orders continued steady and prices are ruling quite even in view of the diminished demand. There is good demand for spot and nearby deliveries of fine and fancy cottons and more business has been offering in small lots on colored cottons of many descriptions. Domestic of the heavier grades are quiet.

Print cloths and convertibles were dull at the opening of the week, and after a slight easing off some additional business was placed. Prints and percales are in moderate demand. Wash fabrics of extreme and novelty patterns are growing more popular. Duck for export is in steady demand, the shipments for war purposes having exceeded all previous records.

General export trade continues light. Bleached goods are selling better than almost any other line.

The erratic cotton markets last week have had a somewhat unsettling effect on future business. Prices are quoted as follows:

Print cloths 28-inch 64x64 3/4c, 64x66 3 1/2c; 38 1/2-inch 64x64 3 3/4c; brown sheetings, southern standards, 6 and 8 1/2c; denim, 9-ounce, 12c; duckings, 11-ounce, 11 1/2c; standard prints 4 1/2c; standard staple ginghams 5 1/2c; dress ginghams 9 1/2c.

FINANCIAL REVIEW.

New York, March 7.—More confident sentiment was reflected in the firmer and quieter stock market last week. These evidences of confidence in the country becoming involved with belligerent governments on account of reprisals affecting our commerce. Official optimism at Washington over Germany's reply to this government and the chances of British concessions helped this feeling.

Wheat's violent tumble was affected indirectly by fears of interrupted shipments through war measures and of re-lease of Russian shipments by rumors of cancellation of export orders on peace prospects.

Foreign trade generally was decidedly affected by these influences. February's fourth week trade balance showing a marked decrease from preceding weeks, while foreign exchange rates stiffened. There was further sales of American securities from abroad; private banking credits to foreigners and offerings of new German war loan notes were reported at Chicago and other western points.

Favorable trade auguries were drawn from iron and steel news showing increase in February production for March. A full was reported in western freight tonnage and January earnings pointed to severe economies in force.

Adjustment of congress has a favorable influence. Argument for western freight increases and Missouri's refusal to allow a 2 1/2 cent fare entered into calculations. Default of the Western Pacific railroad was without effect on the general bond market, which was broad and showed a strong undertone.

BEAUMONT DEFEATED.

Beaumont, March 7.—The mixed team of the St. Louis Americans defeated the Beaumont, (Texas league) mixed team in a very evenly matched game played in a biting north wind this afternoon. The score was 9 to 6. Martina allowed both hits and one run in his five innings, striking out four of the Browns.

The score—R. H. E. Beaumont ..... 000 003 210—6 8 7 St. Louis ..... 010 004 310—9 11 4 Martina and Dean, O'Donnell; Leveretts, James and Cochran, Alexander.

NEW YORK DEFEATS DALLAS.

Dallas, March 7.—New York Nationals second string players today defeated the local Texas league team here 6 to 3. The day was too cold for fast baseball. The score—R. H. E. New York ..... 200 022 000—8 15 1 Dallas ..... 020 010—3 10 2 Huenke, Smith, Kermayer and Marshall; Mullen and Dunn, Brady and Brown.

THE HOME GARDEN MOVEMENT NOT CONFINED TO WACO BUT NATION WIDE

While there is no place so much in need of an earnest effort in this direction as our city in particular and Texas in general, the movement is universal all over the country. If agitation counts for anything in results, more people will plant gardens this spring than ever before the country over. There is much reason for this gardening movement everywhere, but much more reason for it in Texas and in Waco than anywhere else.

Chicago is planning for demonstration gardens in many parts of the city. The park boards are giving their aid and model gardens will be part of the parks' decorative scheme. Let Waco have a demonstration garden at Cameron park or in some other suitable place. Secretary has already been talking the matter up, but let us keep after it until the thing is accomplished. A small plot properly planted and cultivated will supply a family with half hour's work a day will supply the labor necessary and when the crop of the back yard garden is gathered it surpasses in quality anything that can be had from other sources. The savor of vegetables, like that of fish, depends upon their freshness. Everyone wants a home garden; many do not know much about how to get it, while all could be instructed by a public demonstration garden.

The Rush Park Seed Co. will furnish the seed for it without cost and do all in their power to push it along. Waco altogether, let Waco be the first city in Texas to have a municipal garden.

La Touraine Fire Now Under Control

Paris, March 7.—Fire which threatened the French steamship La Touraine has been brought under control and all her passengers are safe on board, according to a formal announcement at noon by the Compagnie Generale Trans-Atlantique, owners of the liner.

La Touraine is proceeding under her own steam to Havre, her destination, and is expected to arrive there tomorrow night. Only the Rotterdam of the fleet which responded to Captain Caussin's wireless call for aid, is standing by as a measure of precaution to give assistance should any vessel be required. Commanders of other vessels which speeded to the rescue have been informed that their services will not be required.

The statement given out by the steamship company said:

"The fire which broke out aboard La Touraine was less serious than was at first thought. The fire is under control and all passengers are safe. La Touraine has resumed her voyage to Havre under her own steam, but nevertheless for further security she is being escorted by the Rotterdam and probably will arrive at Havre Monday evening."

According to officials of the steamship company they have not been informed what caused the fire. They assert, however, that the flames were confined to one of the compartments in the hold. It was feared for a time that it might be necessary to transfer the passengers to another ship to avoid danger, but this plan evidently was abandoned when it was seen the blaze was being mastered. Grave fears were felt in this city. The positive announcement was made that she was in no danger. Several newspapers suggested that the fire might have been started by spies who had concealed themselves on board.

DR. GAMBRELL TALKS GREATNESS OF FAITH AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUBJECT OF SERMON

SUNDAY SCHOOL BASEBALL CLUBS NOT WITHIN LORD'S WORK.

FLESH AND THE DEVIL

Many Things, He Declares, Done in the Church Not Approved by Him.

"Sunday school baseball clubs and the selling of oysters for a dollar per dozen at church fairs, bazaars and suppers do not come within the work of the Lord," declared Dr. J. B. Gambrell, secretary of the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, in a sermon at the First Baptist church yesterday morning, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. M. Dawson, who is conducting a revival at Mart.

"There is a good deal going on around the churches which does not come within the work of the Lord," Dr. Gambrell continued, "and by this I mean the work which God wants done for His glory. There is nothing about God in such things as I have mentioned, and my soul is revolted at hundreds of things that are connected up with the church in this day and time, which properly belong to the flesh and the devil. Two things mark the work of the Lord. The first is that it shall represent a command of the Lord, and the second is that it be done in the spirit of the Lord." Dr. Gambrell spoke from the text, "Be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as ye know that you will be doing the will of the Lord," 1 Cor. 15:58.

In the development of it he said in part: "In all the writings of Paul we find exhortation like this connected to great arguments and the setting forth of great doctrines. For instance, Paul shows that everything connected with the Christian religion is a part of the resurrection of Jesus Christ, for if Christ be not risen then the whole system of salvation through Jesus Christ goes down."

Paul bases his argument for great living upon a fundamental doctrine, and every great, efficient, powerful conquering Christian life must be founded in doctrine. Doctrine is nothing but the teaching of the Lord, and it is all good. And there is not so much dry doctrine as there is dry preaching of it or of the mispreaching of it. I want to live in doctrine. And there can be no great living unless they are rooted and founded in great doctrines and principles.

"And we can honor God in His teachings and we can know God only through them. Nobody can live in the Christian life until he is rooted and grounded in the gospel. Those who do great things in the world are those who believe in what they are doing. If a man of great living is once in a while and ask himself if he is saved, how he was saved, if he has been properly baptized, and to what church he should be long, Dr. Gambrell said, "I am steadfast in your faith in Christ and your hope in life to come. We need to lay great stress on doctrine. Many insidious movements are being made today. No inducement can turn him to the left or to the right, whether in bad times, good times or any other sort of times."

There are enough people in this house today to redeem Texas and put the saloons out of business and bring this state to the feet of Jesus Christ. If we would only stand together firmly and steadfastly, the world has known. When His disciples wondered at His endurance power He assured them that He had no meat to eat that they knew not in his power, said to a cowboy, "What is that line for?" "To catch steers and horses, ma'am," the cowboy answered.

"Indeed," said the young lady, looking rather astonished. "And what bait do you use?"

Representative Vollmer, answering at a Washington luncheon an attack against his armament exportation bill, said: "They understood it as completely as the young lady misunderstood the lasso. A young lady, pointing to the lasso coiled on his person, said to a cowboy, 'What is that line for?' 'To catch steers and horses, ma'am,' the cowboy answered. REV. QUILL AT THE LUTHERAN CHURCH TALKS ON CANAANITISH WOMAN.

CHRISTIANS PUT TO SHAME

Narrative of Discussion Occurs in Fifteenth Chapter of Matthew.

"Greatness of Faith" was the subject of a sermon preached yesterday morning by Rev. M. B. Quill, pastor of the Scandinavian Lutheran church. The sermon was based on the Scripture narrative of the Canaanitish woman, whose daughter was put to shame by the heathen woman, who had great faith. The preacher said, in part:

"To describe the real nature and essence of faith in such a way that the unbeliever can get a clear conception and understanding of what faith is, would be as impossible as to describe the colors of a rainbow to one who has never seen the light of day. The true believer, when called upon to describe faith in Christ, will find himself stumbling for expressions to explain what faith really is. If we are to get a clear understanding of what faith is, we must go to the Lord, our God."

"Concerning the Canaanitish woman. It is recorded that she came to Christ. Many instances have we in Scripture of faith being described as a coming to Christ. In the sixth chapter of St. John Jesus is recorded as saying: 'I am the bread of life; he that cometh to me shall never hunger, and he that believeth on me shall never thirst.' Concerning the Prodigal Son, it is recorded that he arose and went to his father. How is it? Have you, dear hearers, left your sinful surroundings and come to Christ? Or do you still tarry far away? Ask yourself diligently that question. Oh, if you would but leave all your earthly concerns and come to Christ, you would never feel the want of anything. The Canaanitish woman had left her heathen surroundings and gone to seek Christ and her faith in Him was great. Wherein does the greatness of her faith consist? The Canaanitish woman belonged to the heathen people, and as such she was despised and detested by the Jews, and they were very much aware of the hatred of the Jews, for the Jews often voiced their contempt for all who were not descended from their father, Abraham. And yet she came to Christ, and humbly acknowledged a Jew as her Lord and Savior. This is true faith, but it is only ordinary, saving faith, of which we have many examples in the Bible. She prevailed over Christ, and the greatness of her faith appears in this that she looked to Jesus in a desperate case. The man sick with the palsy came to Jesus and said, 'Lord, I have faith. Only say the word, and my son shall be healed.' So did the disciples during the storm on the sea of Galilee look to Jesus in a desperate case, and Jesus said, 'Ye little faith.' But to the Canaanitish woman he said, 'Great is thy faith.' Nor does the greatness of her faith appear in this that she persevered, clings to Him in spite of rebuffs. She came to Jesus, and she said, 'Lord, have mercy on me.' 'On me,' she said, for she had made her daughter's misery her own. She called Him 'Lord, Son of David,' and yet He answered her not a word. She continued crying after Him, and even until the disciples besought Him to send her away. But He answered that He was sent by the Father to the lost sheep of the House of Israel. He said to her, 'Woman, what doest thou here? Thy daughter is not here. It is not meet to take the children's bread and to cast it to dogs.' The greatness of her faith does not consist in that she does not lose heart, but in the true greatness of her faith appears in her answer to Jesus: 'Truth, Lord, for dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table.' When she makes this statement then the Lord said: 'Great is thy faith.'

"Let us look more closely at her answer in order to discover the reasons why the greatness of her faith is revealed thereby. The statement of Jesus that He was sent by the Father to the lost sheep of the House of Israel seems at first sight to bar all others. And again the statement, 'It is not meet to take the children's bread and to cast it to dogs,' seems to emphasize the bars and yet the bars are let down. The Greek word which is translated 'dogs' in our text does not mean the large, ravenous beasts that prowled about, but means 'dogs'—little dogs, pet dogs which were permitted in the house as pets for the children. She accused and puts that word in His mouth, and He answered her, 'I am a pet dog of the House of Israel, chase me to remain under the table laden with Thy gospel—and the crumbs of Thy gospel of grace is all I need—all I want. That is the greatness of her faith.'

"How many of us cling to Christ's plain promises of salvation? She clings steadfastly to half admission that she may have even the crumbs of His grace which are wasted by others. See her great humility—and proof of her great faith. Humility is the first fruit of faith, and great humility argues a great faith.

"And what does her great faith attain? She prevails over Christ, Jacob, the patriarch of the Old Testament, wrestled with God a whole night. At daybreak Jacob received God's blessing, but he remained a cripple all his life. The Canaanitish woman also struggled with God, but in true humility, and won a decided victory, although Christ remained the Master. 'Be it unto thee even as thou wilt,' says Christ. The greatness of faith obtains unlimited help—limited only by the limits of our faith itself. Christ says that only true believers are the children of Abraham. By her faith she revealed that she was a true daughter of Abraham, and therefore virtually an Israelite. The greatness of Abraham's faith consisted in that he, without the shadow of a doubt, took God at His word. The true faith of the Canaanitish woman therefore entitles her to membership in the household of God's chosen people. Out of humility she may be contented with the humble position of a dog, but still she is one who has a right there. And those of us who initiate her in faith will see her in eternity—and there, forever, she will sit at meal with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, occupying a place of honor, partaking of the glory of God."

O dear friend, how does this heathen woman put most of us to shame? Now Bibles may be bought for a small price and yet many have none, while others, having one, never glance at its pages laden with most precious food for our souls. The Canaanitish woman not only contented and satisfied to eat the crumbs of God's grace, but prostrated herself praying that she might partake of that food which others carelessly tread under their feet. Yet the Lord says her faith is great. You, dear friends, may not have the same faith as the Lord, and occupy a place at the Lord's table, and feast abundantly upon the bread of life, each day you may freely in the sunshine of God's gospel of grace. Are you carelessly dropping the crumbs and wickedly treading the Gospel under your feet? Are you sitting here in His temple thoughtlessly letting the rich Gospel go to waste? Compare yourself with the heathen woman and ask yourself earnestly, 'What does the Lord think of my faith?' Take this with you home and ponder over it every day. 'What does the Lord think of my faith?'
